AN EARTHQUAKE IN BUCKINGHAM

Arvonion and Other Villages Felt Vibrations Lasting Fifty Seconds.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Arvonion, Va., August 8.—A distinct earthquake shock was felt here at 3 o'clock last night, the vibrations continuing from thirty to fifty seconds. As well as could be ascertained, the shock approached from the south or southeast, passing away to the north-west or north. There was the sound of a slight explosion as the waves appeared to pass directly underneath. The shock was distinctly felt not only here, but at various points in this vicinity, notably at New Market and Canton, adjoining villages. It is known here whether or not any damage was done. It is known that dishes and other movable things were caused to rattle upon shelves, and other evidences of an earthquake as distinguished from any possible kind of an explosion were manifest.

Within recent years two other distinct earthquake shocks have been felt, the last about two years ago, when the vibrations were heard in Buckingham, Campbellland, Prince Edward, Amelia and Newmarket Counties. The former of the two shocks previously felt, which occurred about five years ago, was a most severe one, and considerable destruction was caused in the many state quarry pits here. A woman named Sylvia thoroughly frightened. This earthquake was fully investigated by the United States government, and the report was made that the centre of the earthquake, or epic, occurred about five miles away to the northeast. It is thought that a fault in the rocks caused the disturbance.

John J. Gilliam Has Narrow Escape, but Is Saved by Boy.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Farmville, Va., August 8.—John J. Gilliam, one of the most prominent of Prince Edward farmers, met with a narrow escape from death last yesterday. He was taking one of his Jersey bulls to water when the animal suddenly turned upon him. Mr. Gilliam had a pickfork in one hand, which he carried for bodily protection. But the first lick from the infuriated animal disarmed him. A twelve-year-old boy, who happened nearby, grabbed up the fork, and while Mr. Gilliam was being attacked, the lad jabbed the bull, striking him through the nose. Mr. Gilliam's injuries are serious. Three ribs were broken and his collarbone shattered. He also suffered many bruises, and is probably injured internally.
